'Leaprosy' Will Present Hints, Introduce BYU Preferred Men

"Leaprosy" has been selected, guy," said Diane Stirlan, general as the theme of the student assembly to be held Friday at 10 a.m. in Smith Fieldhouse.

The Associated Women Students is sponsoring the event in conjunction with the Preference Ball to be held Friday evening.

THE ASSEMBLY will provide campus cords with the necessary hints to trap that special

Highlighting the assembly will be the presentation of the 10 "preferred men" on campus and the "most preferred man."

The assembly script was written by Elizabeth Toronto. Others who have aided in the production are Sharon Walwork, costuming; Sharon Johnson, choreography.

SKY SHOW—Dr. Delbert H. McNamara demonstrates the projector used to recreate heavenly bodies on the dome of the Summerhayes Planetarium to a group of BYU students. The December public showing will be tonight at 7:30 p.m. in Eyring Science Center.

Communist-Led Students Defy Venezuelan Troops

CARACAS, Venezuela, Dec. 1 (UPI)—Communist-led students transformed the Caracas University campus into a virtual fortress today, defying troops to dislodge them on the sixth day of subversive rioting in which at least 14 persons had died.

The outbreak of violence, which had been confined to the Caracas area, spread yesterday to the six provinces around the country. Although supplies were lacking, it appeared that troops in the provinces were battling mobs in much the same way as in the capital.

PRO-GOVERNMENT union leaders said in a nationwide radio broadcast last night that Leftist foes of President Romulo Betancourt would try today to foment a nationwide general strike. They appealed to loyal workers to ignore "clandestine" strike calls.

Col. Anibal Sanchez Gomez, the national police chief, announced last night that about 200 persons had been arrested since the riots started Nov. 23.

POLICE raided Communist offices in central Caracas and the suburbs yesterday, confiscating sizeable quantities of Red propaganda. Party files were missing, however, and few Communist leaders could be located.

Authorities suspected the party had "gone underground."

Government raiders also seized powerful radio transmitters in the homes of two Venezuelans and uncovered a number of arms caches. Three hundred "Molotov Cocktails" incendiary bombs were found in Andriga High school, an early focus of trouble in the riots.

THE UNIVERSITY has been a hub of anti-government activity since the start of the disorders. There have been frequent clashes between students and government forces but so far there was no concerted effort to take over the campus.

Three persons died during a clash between troops and students in the University yesterday.

Student leaders said the body of Jose Montesinos, the young Venezuelan killed in the clash, will be paraded through the city today in an effort to whip up anti-government sentiment.

The embattled students organized "brigades" to patrol the campus. Entry was permitted to enter unless he could produce a pass issued by the Leftist Federation of University Associations.

Diane Johnson, Orem Junior Captures Prize

Diane Johnson, a junior political science major from Orem, was named winner of the Heber J. Grant Oratorical Contest held Wednesday morning in Smith Fieldhouse.

She was presented with a personally inscribed copy of the triple combination by Mrs. Frances Grant Bennett, daughter of the late church president.

MISS JOHNSON spoke on the importance of positive thinking and faith in oneself. "A man can do what he wants to if he believes in himself," she said.

She told of a man who had been told he had only two weeks to live but recovered from cancer. When asked how he did this, replied, "I believed in myself and God."

Miss Johnson also told of a survey indicating that one thing alike in geniuses was a staunch belief in oneself.

THE TWO OTHER SPEAKERS, finished first and second over a number of others during elimination contests held throughout November were Vicki Adams and Sharon Jackie. Miss Adams is a freshman English major from Huntington Park, Calif., and Miss Jackie is a sophomore from Orem majoring in speech therapy.

Miss Adams gave a first person interpretation of the Apostle Peter's life with the Savior—a detailed word picture of Christ.

MISS JACKLIN told of the Saints in Hong Kong. Requirements for membership are very strict and difficult for the Chinese people. Faith in God is the only reason that joins the Church," she said. "Our Church is the only one that does not give out food passes."

The judges were Max Go... and Morris Clinger of the Speech Dept., faculty and Emer... West, a graduate assistant.

Moon Tale To Be Told Tonight At Planetarium

"Trailing the Moon" will be the subject of the public showing at the Summerhayes Planetarium at Brigham Young University Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

Public showings are held the first Thursday of each month with special showings Tuesday and Thursday afternoons during the month of elementary and high school students and Tuesday and Thursday evenings for prescheduled private groups.

IN THE PLANETARIUM an optical projector creates an illusion of the sky on a hemispherical dome. The dome is bordered by Utah's own skyline with Mt. Timpanogos, Y Mountain, Squaw Peak and even the Provo City Power chimneys easily identified.

The sun, moon, planets, constellations of stars and even the whole Milky Way, comets and artificial satellites can be created. The position of heavenly bodies can be recreated as seen at different times of the year and at different latitudes on the earth.

THE DAILY MOTIONS of the sky can be seen, along with the positions of the sun, moon and planets as they appeared in the past and will appear in the future.

Dr. Delbert H. McNamara, planetarium director, says that the structure is among the finest of its type and the only one within a radius of about 500 miles around Provo.

OTHER LECTURES to be given during the year are "Charting The Heaven," "Big Dipper Astronomy," "Parade of the Planets," "Astronomy and Geography," and "Unscrambling the Universe."

Information about the showings can be obtained from the BYU Public Relations office. School groups, church groups, Boy Scout troops, civic clubs and other private groups are invited.

WHAT'S THE PRICE?

What is the price of peace of mind?

How valuable is an atmosphere of safety?

How does the cost of light bulbs and electricity compare with the cost of serenity and an optimistic attitude?

HOW MANY MEN can tolerate the possibility that while they're studying tomorrow's calculus lesson their sister, girlfriend, neighbor or wife is being accosted by some maladjusted individual on a dark campus sidewalk or a shadowy city street?

How many times has the campaign for better-lit pathways been pushed until everyone is tired of listening and reading?

How many lights have been turned on as a result of these pleas?

IT BECOMES A SAD situation when a college woman needs to fear walking across campus after the sun has set. It's unfortunate that a woman can't leave the library and feel certain that she will reach her destination safely.

Perhaps frigid weather will discourage exhibitionists, rock-throwers and other odd ones, but isn't it a little ridiculous to take the chance?

Isn't there sense in a practice of turning on lights along dark sidewalks for the benefit of those who are on campus anytime after 5 p.m. and before 8 a.m.? Of what value are available lights if they are left off? What good is a path to Heritage Halls if no one can find it?

IT MUST BE ACKNOWLEDGED that some steps were taken to provide some lights last year, but the supply must have been rather limited. Many areas are still dramatically enveloped in black. And who wouldn't blanch at the thought of having to sneak past the dark areas and sprint from patch of light to patch of light?

Interestingly enough, the pathway to Helaman Halls is a blaze, but the only method by which one can reach Heritage is by memorizing the way during the daytime. And the women who live off-campus are forced to mark their trail in some other original fashion to avoid being lost as they dart along.

Don't you think a light or so around campus could prove somewhat beneficial? After all, what is the price of peace of mind?

Disillusioned Student Reports . . .

'Horrible, Horrible' Describes China

(ACP) University of Redlands, California, coed Toni Merrill, an ever listed, but there were many exchange student to Hong Kong, sent this report to the BULLDOG:

April is a very warm, friendly person, one who feels almost immediately close to her. She boarded the ship at Japan and is sailing with us to Hong Kong to study at Chung Chu.

In 1953, April entered Red China in search of answers which she felt communism offered.

Inside Red China, she enrolled in school at Peking, the room which she was given to live in was shared by five other students — two of them affiliated with the government or members of the Communist Party.

The academic climate at this "school" was strange by comparison with schools in the free world. Here the students not permitted to say anything against the government; no freedom of speech is tolerated. Small groups of even two or three people could not talk without being under suspicion.

There wasn't very much study at the Communist school. If one wanted to study, he would be criticized for trying to be an individual.

At meals Party members lectured to the students, later discussion groups were held to analyze the ideas that had been said. When evening came the students often had to walk miles out to a collective farm and had to plow the earth to soften the winter soil.

If a person balked at the party line they were criticized and questioned. Criticism is an experience which the Communists can't stand. They criticize everybody in a group bitterly attacking the offending individual in an attempt to change him.

Even the husband and wife find no trust in each other. Seldom do they talk about the government and its place in their lives. Few are the moments when they are alone for they are required to attend meetings, centralized programs and labor, sometimes for 24 hours without a break.

I asked what was the average amount of sleep April was able to get under this system of indoctrination and labor. She replied that when there were no rebellions taking place, she was allowed to sleep from midnight until 6 in the morning.

I also asked about suicides and mental illness resulting from the constant suppression under which the people lived. April tempted suicide.

April is very pessimistic hope for change in Red China. All she says is that "It is horrible, horrible."

"People are ruled and educated so that there is no thinking. There is no reason. There is no logic. There is no choice, only duty is to exist and to what you are told and taught until you finally begin to believe it as the truth."

The Outraged Wallflower By AGNES

Earlier this year the suggestion was made on these that the students consider the naming of the "soon-to-be-constructed" Student Union Bldg. Though this ponderous thing may continue for many years, let it not be taken lightly, surely it is agreed that the names of the various buildings on campus lend a certain homely atmosphere.

However, it has come to the attention of many that "naming" has been extended a bit too far, enough when the fish-bowl in the Eyring Science Center named in honor of a fellow called Foucault.

But now that the little room down the hall has dubbed "John," the rest of us—unhonored and rejected—take personal affront and cry out the indignation they feel. Why not give the Bills and Sams the recognition deserve. Or the Henrys, or Rons.

At times reference is made to the governor; however it is felt that this issue should not be political in nature.

It is recognized that there is at least one Jim on campus, but many are of the opinion that the quality of decision appropriate to such precincts can only be achieved through a more delicate name, such as Jeanne, Barbara, even the daintier name of Agnes.

This matter is brought to the attention of the student body because of its seriousness, that it may be discussed in the discussions in N.S.A., tickets at the football game, and condolence letters to Richard.

After-the-Ball Activities Planned For Preferred Men

by Sandee Carter

Daily Universe Society Writer
Since many girls on campus get to treat their favorite fellows only once a year, they are planning to make Friday night a date to remember.

For some men the evening will begin early with a housewarming dinner. For others the activities are planned for after the dance.

After-the-dance dates seem to be one of the most popular. One couple isn't worrying about Price tag. She says, "I bought the tickets; let him plan the entertainment planned. Several ning."

Many dorms will be teeming with house parties all night. Roommates who are double-dating are combining forces to plan games and refreshments.

Jack's Batch

by Jack Batchler

Universe Sports Writer

So much for football season.

Only thing left in that area is a host of Bowl games which will be played between now and January 3rd. We don't get to one, but Utah State plays New Mexico State for the Sun Bowl. I pick New Mexico State to out-backfield the Aggies.

DOWN AT THE HIGH SCHOOL Class A and B finals last Friday we saw two good games, marred only by an incident in the West side of the stadium. A man died of a heart attack just at the end of the second game. It took two or three minutes to get a message up to the press box for someone to get an ambulance down there.

It took a further 10 to 15 minutes to get an ambulance there. If fortune can be admitted in such a case, the man died at the outset of the attack, but had he not, those 15 minutes could have been a factor in saving his life.

MANY UNIVERSITIES have taken the precaution of stationing an ambulance at their stadium house during ALL athletic functions. Next season, would it not seem wise to have one stationed by ours? And at the Fieldhouse during basketball season? The life you save may be mine.

Crytal ball acts are revering all over the nation and I want to get into the act. All of the national papers that I have read concerning basketball predictions have gone ahead and picked Utah State over Utah for the Skyline loop crown with either Wyoming or New Mexico in third or fourth or fourth and third.

WITH RESERVATIONS I go along with Utah State for top spot, but I can't go along with Utah for second. Most of the ratings are based upon last year's results and returning players, but Utah is without one of their star players, Allan Holmes. He was injured in a car wreck and will not be playing this year. They still have McGill, but one gun can't stop an army and there are a few armies around the loop which will be just loaded for a victory over the "Skins."

BYU is my choice, and this is really equitable after last year's record, but I fear that even though Steve Wattis will be sufficient to down the Utes and also the Aggies. At least his squad will down the Farmers in Provo, if not in Legan.

Coach Watts has something this year that was sorely lacking last year, and that is bench strength. After last Friday's tussle between the Varsity and Freshmen I am convinced that the second string can hold any lead that the first-stringers will give them.

I pick Utah State, BYU, Utah and New Mexico.

One advantage to not being invited to the Preference Ball is that you can stay home and listen to the BYU-Washington game on the radio.

Aggies, Cowboys Lead All-Conference Choices

Utah State's ambitious Aggies reaped most of the post season individual honors in the United Press International All-Sports Team announced Tuesday.

COACH JOHN RALSTON, who directed the Farmers to one of their greatest seasons in history, including a share of the Skyline title and a bowl bid, was named coach of the year.

Ralston won the nod over Montana's Ray Jenkins who piloted the Grizzlies to their best season in a decade.

Additional honors were given the Farmers when half back Tommy Larscheid was named player and back of the year and teammate Merlin Olsen, a tackle, was acclaimed lineman of the year.

ANOTHER AGGIE, guard Willie Redmond, also won a first team berth.

Wyoming, who shared the title with Utah State, dominated the first team selections with four Cowboys winning berths. Quarterback Chuck Lamson, halfback Jerry Hill, fullback Mac Smith and end Marty Hamilton were all conference choices for the Cowboys.

UNIVERSITY OF UTAH runnerup in the race, contributed three players to the first team, all linemen. Center Ed Pine, and tackle Ken Peterson and guard Tony Polychronis represented the Utes.

The remaining spot on the first team, an end position, went to Colorado State University's Duane Knox.

Flag Football Crown ...

Pistons to Play Rematch Winner

An upheld protest highlighted the final rounds of the All-School flag football tournament. San Diego Club protested the loss of the game to BL1 and won the protest after an hour long meeting of both teams and intramural officials.

The game will be replayed from the start of the second quarter with BL1 leading 7-0 and kicking off to San Diego. The game will be played on the same field as the previous game across from the Fieldhouse starting at 5:15 this afternoon.

The protest came about as result of an official moving the end boundary of the end zone without properly notifying both teams. The action took place after the start of the game and while play was going on.

BL1 scored after the action ended with a 7-0 when San Diego scored a touchdown, or what they thought was a touchdown, but it was nullified and the play was replayed. San Diego entered their protest at this point and played the rest of the game under protest.

In the other semi-final game the Pistons beat Tau Sigs to go into the final game against the winner of the BL1-San Diego replay.

In other intramural action all sports chairmen of independent, resident halls, social units, clubs and ward teams are reminded that paddleball singles entries close December 2 and that the closing entry date for basketball is December 9.

Green Cougars Debut Friday

by Danny Moore
 University Sports Editor
 inexperienced band of Green Young University varsity basketball players will fly into this afternoon for two with nationally ranked team of Washington.

The Green Cougars will take players to Seattle and if these will be sophomores ACH WATTS may be I to go with three sophomores on his starting unit to leading scorer on the fresh team of two seasons ago. He did not in with unquestionable play last year.

RY ERNST—Earnest, a 6-0 senior guard will see of action this weekend when the Cougars make debut against the University of Washington Huskies in Seattle. Earnest averaged 12.6 points per game season and directed the Cougar offensive attack.

veterans center Dave Eastis (6-4) and take charge guard Gary of Earnest (6-0). Both were regulars on last year's club.

To fill the gaps Watts has and will probably go with sophomore forwards Bruce Burton (6-8) and Tim Lampen (6-5) and guard Gary Batchelor (5-10). Burton and Batchelor were stars on last year's freshman squad while Lampen is the leading scorer on the fresh team of two seasons ago. He did not EASTIS, an all conference center last year who averaged 16.4 points per game and 10.4 and playmaking. Earnest is the Cats a pretty firm foundation to build from. Burton is a demon on the backboards and along with Lampen, their scoring should take some of the pressure off. Eastis, Batchelor although a poor shooter is a smooth ball handler and a superb defensive man.

The twelve men traveling squad is rounded out by the following guards: Roland Bevel (6-1), Robert Wilson (5-11) and Ron Steinke (5-10). Bevel is a senior, Wilson a junior and Steinke a sophomore.

THE FORWARDS are Soph. Jim Kelson (6-2) and Scott Iverson (6-3). Another forward is to be named before the season starts. The number two pivot man is Lloyd Johnson, the tallest man on the Cougar team at 6-6.

Last year the Cougars also played the Huskies in their season debut. They managed a split over John Grayson's sophomore crew in Provo with the Wattsmen winning the first game but dropping the second.

KEY MAN for the Huskies is big, big Bill Hanson. Hanson at 6-8 and 225 pounds averaged 16.4 points per game last season as a sophomore, hitting on 52.7 percent of his shots from the field. He moves well for a big man and can drive as well as hook and jump shoot from outside the keyhole.

With Hanson, Grayson could name veterans Roger Niva (6-6), Cliff Names (6-1) and Lyle Bakken (5-11). Newcomer Ed Corell (6-6) will give the Huskies a definite advantage in height against the shorter Cougars. In addition they have reserves 6-7 Larry Sharp and 6-5 LuMoine Porter.

THE HUSKIES came on strong last season under Grayson, winning seven of their last eight big games. They have been tabbed as the best team on the West Coast by many of the experts.

With the Cougars' inexperience and lack of height they would feel fortunate in returning home to Provo with a 1-1 record. A split against the Huskies would be welcomed, as the Huskies are favored in both contests.

If It's About Mormons, It's Mormon Americana

by Afton Johnson

University Feature Writer
Whether anti-Mormon or pro-Mormon, printed or handwritten, anything recorded by or about the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints can be classified under Mormon Americana. As a collection, it forms a part of Special Collections, located in room 150, Grant Library.

More than 5,000 volumes and approximately 1,000 manuscripts and 600 typewritten diaries, various magazines, newspapers, tracts and clippings make up the Mormon Americana Collection. The Book of Mormon is well represented by 118 editions in 19 languages.

ORGANIZED IN 1948, the collection has grown rapidly. Personal library collections of Anthony W. Ivins, Heber J. Grant, Clifford K. Young, James E. Talmage, George Q. Cannon, George Albert Smith, and O. M. Toomey form a large part of Brigham Young University's Mormon Americana collection.

Additions are both donated and purchased. Certain rare books, no longer in print and unavailable in the original, are microfilmed and made a part of the collection.

FOR THE LAST three years the Utah Historical Society, Utah State University, the Utah State Library and BYU have cooperated in locating and cataloging all pertinent source materials.

All entries are checked by Special Collections librarians to exercise complete biographical control over the collection.

Both Mr. Flake and Ralph Hansen, who is in charge of manuscripts, are avid collectors. When an item is unknown, diary or manuscript is mentioned, they're all ears.

WHEN ASKED about the great amount of anti-Mormon literature available, Mr. Flake replied, "We collect every bit of it we can find. Our scholars demand to know all that is against as well as all that is for Mormonism."

The collection is available to students for individual research and research. Microfilm facilities are available to those doing serious and extensive research.

Seven part-time employees help in the typing, cataloging and book finding.

Mountain Air Not So Pure

by Afton Johnson
University Feature Writer

Enroute to upper campus from Helaman Halls there is a prevailing scent rising and piercing the fresh mountain air.

The baseball field west of the ramp leading to upper campus has been generously spread with a substance well known to a farm or ranch. Its distinct odor is the principal culprit to what the olive drab material is.

It's almost a tragedy for some who are here for class. As they hump up the ramp taking deep breaths their noses receive an odorous message.

There are those students who carry on merrily actually enjoying the surrounding atmosphere, and their minds wander back to the old farm.

There must be opposition in all things, in this case even opposition to the crisp, clear mountain air surrounding the BYU campus.

But come Spring, that baseball field will have a carpet of greenery to add beauty to the campus.
